PROGRAM OVERVIEW

College of DuPage (COD) offers Paramedic training through Central DuPage Hospital, Edward Hospital, Good Samaritan Hospital and Loyola University Medical Center Emergency Medical Services System (EMSS). These Paramedic training programs are currently utilizing the U.S. Department of Transportation's National Curriculum as required by the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) for those interested in attaining Paramedic certification. EMSS is a hospital-based program for the delivery of pre-hospital stabilization of ill and injured patients.

The hospitals have been designated Emergency Medical Services System resource hospitals by the State of Illinois. This designation specifies certain responsibilities in the delivery of pre-hospital care. Among these are the training and education of Paramedic personnel. Central DuPage Hospital's Paramedic program starts in January each year and is one year in length. Registration is through College of DuPage with classes and clinical rotations held at the hospital.
